

Sergio Palomares Ruiz
Instituto de Fisica Corpuscular

Searches of New Physics with Neutrino Telescopes

Friday, 16 February 2018, 11:30
Room A304

In this talk I will discuss some new physics scenarios which could be probed with high-energy events in neutrino telescopes. Among them, I will discuss the status using IceCube data of potential signals from several dark matter related scenarios, neutrino decay or other exotic possibilities.